

Are you throwing away money on your expense reports?

As a Concur client, you've taken the first step to controlling spend. Are you ready to start ensuring expenses are compliant and you aren't reimbursing items you shouldn't be?

If you aren't reviewing expense reports consistently, it could mean you're losing money without even knowing it.

A 2015 report by Oversight Systems found that out of 160,000 travelers audited:

expensed at least one non-compliant purchase had at least one duplicate expense

According to a Concur analysis of submitted expense reports, 23% of expense reports fail audit checks.

And while we don't like to think that fraud can happen, it does and can really add up. A Wakefield report uncovered employees trying to expense items such as:

According to the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners, a typical organization will have up to 5% loss in annual revenue due to occupational fraud.

THE GOOD NEWS?

Concur can help ensure policy compliance and eliminate fraud with the help of an unbiased auditor.

In 2016, Concur audited over 10 million expense reports for our clients. Concur Audit confirms expenses match accompanying receipts and verifies they're compliant with your expense policies.

Cut costs. Save time. It's common sense. Concur gives you

Spendtelligence

Take the next step to controlling company spend in your organization. Contact your Client Sales Executive for more information on Concur Audit.